You might not smell smoke if you are asleep. Smoke detectors help warn people if there is smoke. They make a loud noise so people will wake up and leave.

Smoke detectors should be on every floor of your home. They should also be in or right outside bedrooms. Smoke detectors need to be placed high on walls or on the ceiling. This is because smoke rises.

Wood in Heat

Wood that is dry can be burned by fire. Kindling is a type of wood that is used to start a fire because it burns easily.

When wood is burning, the fire gives us light and heat. Once the wood has been burned, it becomes ash.

In 2017, wildfires in California burned 122 acres (49 hectares) in Sonoma county alone.

Naming the Planet

Ancient people had many myths about Earth. Ancient Greeks believed that the earth goddess Gaia was the mother of all gods. Ancient Romans also believed in an earth goddess. They called her Terra Mater, which means "Mother Earth."

All the planets except Earth are named after Greek or Roman gods and goddesses. The name "Earth" is at least 1,000 years old. It comes from an Old English word meaning "ground."

Want to know more about Earth? Check out the links below!

Earth's Moon

Earth has one moon. It is the fifth largest moon in the solar system. The Moon can be clearly seen in the night sky, but it does not make its own light. It reflects light from the Sun.

In 1969, American astronauts visited the Moon. They walked on the surface. In total, 12 people have walked on the Moon. They all traveled to the Moon between 1969 and 1972. There is no air or atmosphere on the Moon. This means the astronauts' footprints should stay on the surface forever.

Bunny Brushing

Although most pets require regular baths, this can be very harmful to a rabbit. You should never bathe your rabbit unless instructed to by a veterinarian. Baths lower a rabbit's body temperature to dangerous levels.

Rabbits groom themselves multiple times a day. This continuous grooming keeps rabbits feeling their best. However, there are also dangers associated with grooming. If your rabbit cleans herself too often, she is prone to getting hair balls. These occur when your rabbit swallows too much fur while licking herself. This can be incredibly harmful to your rabbit.

Unlike cats, rabbits are unable to vomit. This means that a large hair ball can block your rabbit's stomach. If she has a hair ball, she will not be able to eat or digest her food. Fiber in your rabbit's food can help prevent this from happening.

When grooming your pet, be very gentle. A rabbit's skin is extremely delicate. You may accidentally scratch your pet if you are not careful. Always use a plastic comb or a soft brush on your rabbit's fur. Make sure to brush in the same direction that the fur grows. Brushing your rabbit allows you to bond with her. It also lets you examine her skin and fur.

Horses of the West

A horse species native to most of the United States. It is spotted, strong, and sure-footed. At one time, flesh-eating Indians rarely ate meat from horses, because they were afraid of getting sick. Today, Appaloosas are found in many parts of the world. Their spotted look makes them one of America's best-known breeds.

Plant-eating Insects

Insects make up the largest number of herbivores. There are more insects in the world than all other forms of life put together. Scientists have identified more than 1 million insect species. Some scientists think there are millions more insect species that have not yet been discovered. Many species of beetles, flies, grasshoppers, and moths are plant-eaters.

One of the best-known insect herbivores is the butterfly. Many butterflies are found around the world. Most butterflies live in tropical regions. They feed on nectar from flowers. They also drink the sweet juice from ripe fruits.

A butterfly uses its tube-like tongue to sip its nectar. This tongue is called a proboscis. A butterfly unfolds the proboscis on its tongue. When the butterfly begins drinking, it rolls its proboscis underneath its head.

Grasshoppers have chewing mouthparts called mandibles. They are used to eat plants and small insects.

An African pollinator beetle is a type of insect that pollinates flowers. It has a long, thin body and a long, thin proboscis. It uses its proboscis to drink nectar from flowers.

Milkweed plants are a type of plant that grows in fields and along roadsides. Butterflies lay their eggs on milkweed plants.

Studying Glaciers

A large mass of ice in every cold region is called a glacier. Glaciers move slowly over many years and decades. A glacier is a large pile of snow that has been crushed by its own weight. Glaciers move by gravity, which causes them to move. Most glaciers move very slowly.

Glaciers move from the mountain tops down to the sea. As they move, they crush the rocks and soil they come across. This causes the soil to become very rocky.

Glaciers move slowly because they are very heavy and it takes time for them to move even a short distance.

Glaciers can move about 10 feet per year. This may seem like a slow speed, but it is actually quite fast compared to the speed of most rivers.

Global Ocean

"Without water, our planet would be one of the billions of lifeless rocks floating endlessly in the vastness of the inky-black void."

Patent Crustaceans, Oceanographic and Aquatic Biologist

Our world is unique among the planets because of its abundant water. From space, Earth looks like a blue marble, swirled with many white clouds. Scientists estimate that the oceans formed about 3.6 billion years ago. Millions of years after Earth formed, it began to cool. Gases in the atmosphere formed clouds and liquid water fell to the ground. As much as half of Earth's water is believed to have come from comets that entered Earth's atmosphere. Rocks on Earth's surface slowly broke down and deposited minerals, such as salt, in the oceans.

The borders that divide the oceans are human-made. There are no naturally occurring divisions between each of the five oceans, and water moves freely between them. Animals also move, or migrate, between the world's oceans from one season to another.

Water sustains all life on Earth, from the smallest microorganisms to the great Blue whale. As many as 80 percent of Earth's living beings make their homes in oceans. Life on land is also dependent on the ocean. For instance, tiny oceanic organisms provide most of the oxygen that land-dwelling organisms need to breathe. In addition to food, breathable air, and transportation, the ocean is a source of artistic and spiritual inspiration for many of the world's people.

The Arctic Ocean is the smallest of the five oceans. Its surface is almost entirely covered in ice. While this frigid body of water may seem inhospitable to life, in reality, millions of unique plants and animals thrive below the ice.

The global ocean covers more than 70 percent of Earth's surface.

The Earth Is Moving!

Evans Montignac had his last batch of ribs. It was a Tuesday afternoon. He was finishing his day at a market in Port-au-Prince, Haiti. Suddenly, the ground started to shake. Goody flew through the air. Montignac fell to the ground. Buildings started to fall down around him. A big piece of concrete landed over where he lay. It blocked out the light. Eventually, the ground stopped shaking. Montignac was alive but trapped.

The January 2010 earthquake in Haiti lasted only 40 seconds. But it caused a lot of damage. Many buildings and homes were turned into rubble. Mud and smoke covered Port-au-Prince in a dark cloud.

What Is Forgiveness?

Sometimes people do things that make you feel angry. Sometimes they say or do things that hurt your feelings. Forgiveness means letting go of hurt feelings. When you forgive people, you stop being angry at them. You accept their mistakes.

Being able to forgive someone means to let go of hurt feelings.

BIOGRAPHY
Joey Prusak

One way to show integrity is to help others by standing up for what is right. That is what teenager Joey Prusak did at the local ice cream shop where he worked.

One day, one of his regular customers came in for ice cream. This customer had a visual impairment and did not notice he dropped a $20 bill while leaving the store. Joey saw this happen, but before he could call out to the man, a woman picked up the money. Joey thought the woman was going to do the right thing and return it to the man. Instead she took the money and came to the front counter to order ice cream.

Joey told the woman that he saw her take that money. He told her to return the money to the man of he would not serve her. She refused, and Joey asked her to leave the store. Joey then gave the man $20 of his own money to replace the money the woman took. Joey made a choice that shows he stayed true to his values. His story quickly spread online and serves as a good example of integrity.

Joey Prusak was 19 years old when he helped the visually impaired customer.

Joey Prusak started working when he was 14 years old. He worked to save money for business school.

About 2.2 billion people around the world have a form of visual impairment.

What is a Primary Source?

A primary source is a document or record that provides firsthand evidence of an event. Primary sources are created at the time of an event occurs. They are made by individuals who witness or participate in the event. Primary sources are the first evidence of something happening.

Letters, diaries, and similar documents are primary sources because they provide a firsthand account of events as it happened. Photographs are also primary sources, as are newspaper articles, maps, school records, and speeches. Each of these items is a record of events. They can be used to reconstruct a primary fact or the event that took place around them or later.

EXERCISE

Primary Sources in Your Life

We create and use primary sources every day. They may be notes, letters or emails. Look at the pictures of some primary sources that you make or use every day. Make a list of the items or your everyday. Beside each item, write what is unique about them. What would the item tell someone who does not know you? Then, make a list of some other primary sources that you create each day.

What Is a Refugee?

Refugees are people who have no choice but to leave their home country. When refugees arrive in another country, they can apply for asylum, which means they will receive help from that country's government. Every person in the world has the right to seek asylum. People waiting for their asylum applications to be successful are called asylum seekers.

A person who had to leave his or her home, but was not invited to a different country, is referred to as an internally displaced person.

A government will know how many refugees are seeking asylum in its country by the number of asylum applications it receives. However, this number is not totally accurate, as not every refugee will claim asylum.

Refugees should claim asylum in the first safe country they reach. If a refugee is refused asylum by a country's government, he or she will not be able to live in that country. Sometimes, refugees may choose to stay in that country after they have been refused, or they might never tell the government that they arrived in the first place. In this case, they are called illegal immigrants.

Shelves loaded with CDs surrounded Opal and Stew. There were more CDs in the middle of the room.
"Those on the wall," pointed Opal. "are audiobooks, or books read on CD."
Stew nodded to the CDs in the middle of the room. "What are those, then?"
"Music," smiled Opal.
"Noooooo waaaaay!" shouted Stew.
"Shhhh!" cautioned Opal. "Use your library voice."
Stew was confused. "Library voice?"
Opal explained that using one's library voice meant speaking in a soft whisper. "Many people come here to study," she explained. "Look behind you."
Stew turned around. He saw magazines and newspapers. At a table, some young lizards were working on homework. Other folks were reading books. Suddenly, Stew wanted a book to read, too.

Becoming a Ballerina

For many dancers, going to ballet school means living away from home. An average student might dance at ballet school, work at a part-time job, and take some classes to finish high school. There's not much time left over for hanging out with friends and having fun.

Sometimes, students get to dance in special holiday performances put on by the ballet company.

The Uniforms

The Warriors' original jerseys had red, white, and gold. As other cities, both the white and blue uniforms read "Phi". When the team moved to California in 1962, the players renamed the team except for replacing "Phi" with "San Francisco" across the chest.

In 1964, the franchise adopted blue and gold as its colors. Until 1966, both the GFLI (Golden) and blue (blue) uniforms read "Warriors". The team then just read "Warriors". The jersey design from 1966 to 1987 was the most popular design of the era. In 1987, "The City" design from 1986 to 1988 replaced "The City". The design existed until 2015, when the team returned to the Bay Bridge design of the late 1960s. The Warriors currently use this design.

During the 1990s, the Warriors updated their jerseys to reflect the trend of the era, with the team name written across the chest.

Mis coloridas alas

¿Sabías que las mariposas son insectos? Tienen seis patas, dos largas antenas, dos grandes ojos, una larga lengua con forma de tubo enrollado y cuatro grandes alas. Pero no son como los demás insectos. Muchas tienen las alas decoradas con hermosos colores, con manchas, rayas y preciosos dibujos. Usamos estos colores para reconocernos en el campo. Otras mariposas tienen colores más oscuros, marrones y grises. Así pueden confundirse con las plantas y escapar de los predadores.

Welcome to EYEDISCOVER

EYEDISCOVER is designed to inspire children at the Kindergarten to Grade 2 levels in a fresh new way.

EYEDISCOVER interactive eBooks bridge the gap between print and digital.

Every spread of each EYEDISCOVER book is connected to a high-resolution video, bringing the content on the pages to life.

Each hardcover book is packed with special features designed for reluctant readers.

An optic readalong included with each title uses real actors to read the book aloud. This allows beginning readers to listen at their own pace.

All EYEDISCOVER books contain a unique printed code that unlocks the interactive eBook and optic readalong. EYEDISCOVER is built to work on every device and is optimized for the iPad.

Common sight and content words help young readers improve their fluency and reading comprehension.

Every hardcover book includes two full pages of highly visual infographics that bring topical facts to life.
